The Truth About The Barn:

A Voyage of Discovery and Contemplation

David Elias

978-1-77337-050-7, $24.95

Trade Paper, 6 x 9, 208 pages

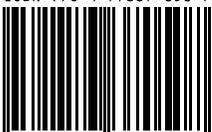

Marketing Plans: National review mailing, online and print marketing, author participation in interviews and readings.

The Truth About The Barn offers answers to important questions about how barns came into being, why they look the way they do, why they're worth reflecting on, and what possible future they may have. Chapters investigate the barn's place in culture and religion, art and literature. Psychological and philosophical implications are explored. Readers are treated to an occasional recollection of the author's own experiences with barns.

DAVID ELIAS is the author of six books, most recently Elizabeth of Bohemia. His fiction has been nominated for a number of awards, including The Books in Canada First Novel Award for Sunday Afternoon and The Journey Prize for his short story, How I Crossed Over. His work has appeared in literary magazines and anthologies across the country, and in addition to writing he spends time as an editor, writer-in-residence, mentor and creative writing instructor. He lives in Winnipeg, Canada.

The Lesser Known:

A History of Oddities from the Heart of the Continent

Darren Bernhardt

978-1-77337-048-4, $29.95

Trade Paper, 7 x 9, 152 pages

Marketing Plans: Local review mailing, online and print marketing, author participation in interviews and readings.

Manitoba's history is one of being carved. Ice sculpted the land before nomadic first people pressed trails across it. Southern First Nations dug into the earth to grow corn and potatoes while those in the north mined it for quartz used in arrowheads. Fur traders arrived, expanding on Indigenous trading networks and shaping new ones.

Then came settlers who chiselled the terrain with villages, towns and cities.

But there is failure and suffering etched into the history, too.

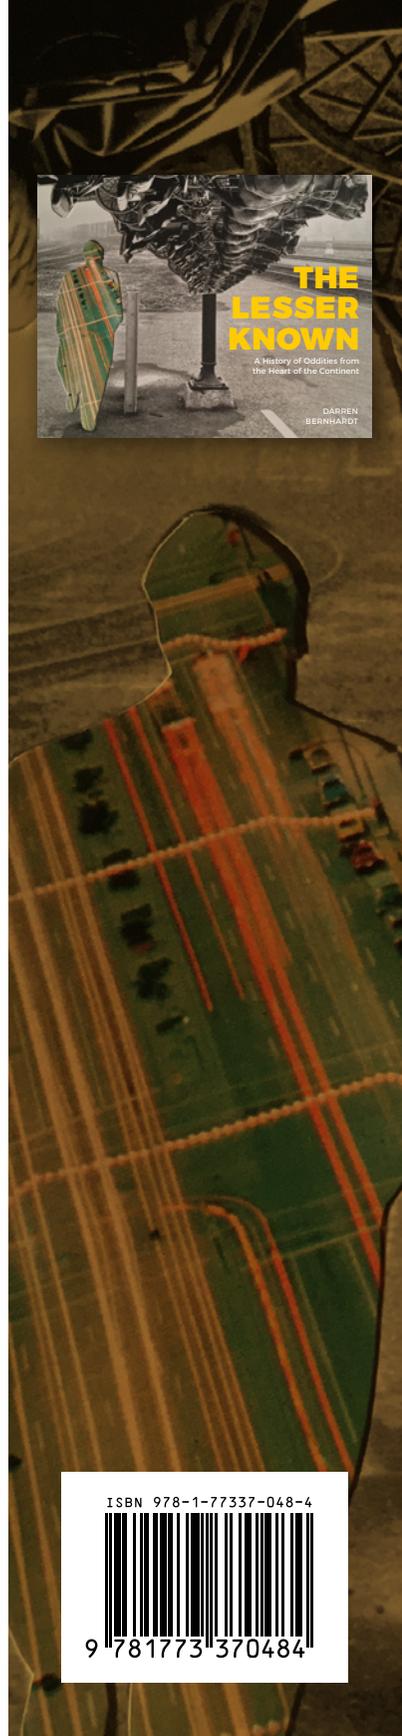

In Winnipeg, slums emerged as the city's population boomed. There were more workers than jobs and the pay was paltry. Immigrants and First Nations were treated as second-class, shunted to the fringes. Rebellions and strikes, political scandals and natural disasters occurred as the people molded Manitoba.

That past has been thoroughly chronicled, yet within it are lesser-known stories of people, places and events. In The Lesser Known, Darren Bernhardt shares odd tales lost in time, such as The Tin Can Cathedral, the first independent Ukrainian church in North America; the jail cell hidden beneath a Winnipeg theatre; the bear pit of Confusion Corner; gardening competitions between fur trading forts and more.

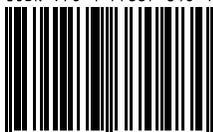

Once deemed important enough to be documented, these stories are now buried. It's time to carve away at them once again.

Born and raised in Winnipeg, DARREN BERNHARDT has been writing as long as he can remember. He spent the first dozen years of his career working for newspapers in Saskatchewan before moving back to Winnipeg where he now lives with his wife, two kids and a dog. He has been writing online for CBC Manitoba since 2009, specializing in offbeat and local history stories. He is the co-author of the 2005 JackPine Press chapbook, To Kerouac and Back and co-author of the play, Alison's Leather Couch.

Peculiar Lessons

How Nature and the Material World Shaped a Prairie Childhood

Lois Braun

978-1-77337-037-8, $24.95, 208 pages

Part memoir, part social history, this collection of ten essays explores the various physical and natural elements that form the backdrop to Braun's memories of growing up mid-20th century on a farm in southern Manitoba. Braun includes intriguing tidbits about the science and history behind each element as it pertains to life in her unique location on our planet. The book reveals how the fascination with a "simple" thing can become a lifelong pursuit that sustains one's artistic and spiritual needs.

Haunted Manitoba

Ghost Stories from the Prairies

Matthew Komus

978-1-77337-028-6, $21.95, 232 pages

Manitoba may seem like a quiet province, but its prairies teem with paranormal activity. A ghostly groundskeeper still does his rounds at the Delta Marsh Field Station; strange noises and apparitions of children in 19th-century clothing have been reported at Lower Fort Garry; and Mrs. Kennedy still welcomes guests to Captain Kennedy's House—just as she did when her home was built in 1866. Haunted Manitoba shares eerie stories from all corners of the province and places them in the context of Manitoba's rich history.

#Underland

Following the events of Pulse Point, 12-year old Ama and the other Underlanders living in a world of darkness dig for brine, the City's real energy source. Underland is a dangerous place: cave-ins, starvation and illness are constant threats. When their leader deserts them, Ama goes looking for him and stumbles on two Citizens. Neither knew the other existed.

18-year old Sari lives in the City, blissfully unaware of what goes on beneath her feet. The disappearance of her best friend, Kaia, has left her feeling isolated. A chance encounter with her sister leads her to join a group called the Resistance who are on a secret mission to reveal the secrets the Council keeps hidden.

When Kaia mounts an attack on the City, Sari and Ama are thrown together in a battle that will decide their futures and the fate of the City.

COLLEEN NELSON earned her Bachelor of Education from the University of Manitoba in her hometown of Winnipeg. Her previous novels include Sadia, winner of the Ruth and Sylvia Schwartz Award, Blood Brothers, selected as the 2018 McNally Robinson Book of the Year for Young People, and Pulse Point, selected as one of the CBC's Most Anticipated YA Books of 2018. Colleen writes daily in between appearances at hockey rinks and soccer fields in support of her two sports-loving sons.

NANCY CHAPPELL-POLLACK initially started writing for her career in communications, but once a maternity leave yielded more time with her sister Colleen Nelson, an award-winning author, a likely partnership was formed. Colleen is the heavy in the writing relationship, with Nancy providing some insight or perspective as the process progresses. Nancy lives in Winnipeg with her four children and her husband.

ISBN: 978-1-77337-054-5, $14.95

Trade Paper, 5 x 7, 104 pages,

Best for middle grade hi-lo readers

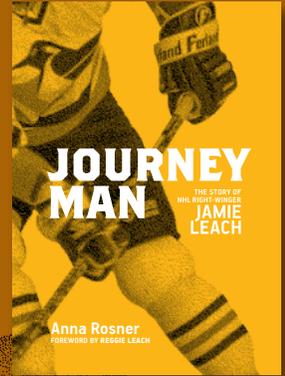

Marketing Plans: International review mailing, online marketing and promotion, national advertising placements, author participation in interviews and readings.

Journeyman is a first-person biography of Ojibwe right-winger Jamie Leach, son of the legendary NHL superstar Reggie Leach. Follow the fascinating hockey trajectory from his childhood years watching his father play for the Philadelphia Flyers, to Jamie's first goal in the NHL. Journeyman touches on Jamie's summers on Lake Winnipeg, the World Junior Hockey Championships, his life in the minor leagues, and his eventual draft into the NHL as a Pittsburgh Penguin. Discover how some of hockey's biggest stars such as Bobby Clarke, Jaromir Jagr, and Mario Lemieux influenced Jamie's life.

Written in close consultation with Jamie and his mother, readers will learn about the struggles Jamie conquered, including his father's alcoholism and his own crippling self-doubt. A story of determination, heartbreak and perseverance.

ANNA ROSNER teaches French at York University, writes children's stories, and has published short stories and numerous scholarly articles. Dedicated to promoting her love for words, Anna has taught language and literacy to children and adults ages five to seventy-five. Anna is the Director of Books with Wings, which provides brand new, quality picture books for Indigenous children who reside in isolated Canadian communities. This is her first book.

The Automatic Age

GMB Chomichuk

978-1-77337-040-8, $14.95, 112 pages, Best for teens

The Automatic Age is the story of a father and son navigating an automated apocalypse.

The future was supposed to be a mechanical utopia of automats, self-driving cars, food pills, and nostalgia machines, designed to create maximum comfort and efficiency for its human inhabitants. But this automated paradise has turned into a world where robot search teams find and remove the troublesome humans that clutter it with grim efficiency.

Now Kerion and his young son, Barry, are two of the few people left behind. They must find a way not only to survive, but to reclaim their humanity.

Coop The Great

Larry Verstraete

978-1-77337-009-5, $11.95, Best for ages 8–12

Coop is an aging, cynical, down-and-out dachshund who faces the ultimate test when his new owner, Mike, and Mike's grandchildren, Zach and Emma, run into trouble. Mike rescued him, but does Coop have what it takes to do the same?

Drawing strength from the stories about great dogs that Mike shares with him, Coop charts a dangerous journey to save his new family.

"A quick and enjoyable read filled with endearing characters, moments of humour and heartfelt storytelling, Coop the Great is a wonderful middle-school novel for all readers. Perfect for both young readers who love animals, as well as a classroom or bedtime read-aloud focusing on important themes of empathy, heroism, and the power of a positive mindset, this is a novel worthy of purchase and priority placement on bookshelves."

Where the Waters Meet

Stéphanie Boulay

Translated from French by Ghislaine LeFranc

978-1-77337-034-7, $21.95, 112 pages

She lives in a cabin in the woods, near the place where the blue water meets the brown. Titi shelters her from those who might decide to move her out of her home and send her who knows where. Her body is changing; life around her is changing too.

The isolation of their lives is wearing on Titi, who threatens to leave her. When Mané appears on her side of the water, she realizes that she understands the world much better than anyone gives her credit for.

Where the Waters Meet is a coming-of-age story told by an unforgettable narrator with an honest and poetic voice.

Originally published by Québec-Amérique as À l'abri des hommes et des choses.

The publisher acknowledges the support of the Canada Council for the Arts.

"This Is All A Lie is a powerful, dazzling accomplishment"
 —Starred Review, Quill & Quire

Godless but Loyal to Heaven
 Richard Van Camp
 978-1-926531-73-1
 $19.95, 200 pages
 WINNER: Georges Bugnet Award for Fiction

"This group of 11 electrifying and sometimes horrifying tales – several revisiting characters from Van Camp's previous books – teems with violence, shame, desire for revenge, sexuality, the supernatural, and hard-won second chances."
 —Starred Review, Dana Hansen, Quill & Quire

The Moon of Letting Go
 Richard Van Camp
 978-1-926531-00-7
 $19.95, 224 pages

"For readers who are familiar with Van Camp's earlier work, this book is an absolute dream. If Night Moves is your first introduction to Van Camp's world, his sexy, seedy prose will beg you to read more. [editor's note: you should go read more. Now.]"—Rabble.ca

Night Moves
 Richard Van Camp
 978-1-927855-23-2
 $19.95, 208 pages

"Hard-nosed but thin-skinned, sturdy yet totally off the wall, Richard Van Camp's Godless but Loyal to Heaven is such a vibrant story collection that I'm kicking myself for only getting around to it now"—Edmonton Journal

"Powerful! An original voice from the true north strong and free."—Tomson Highway
